This will be a great opportunity to hear new ideas and share with fellow teachers. In keeping with this year's conference emphasis of academic skills integration, you will be asked to share how you are integrating math or English skills into the lesson you bring to share. If you're new to academic integration, this is an opportunity to ask other Business Education teachers how they would do it.

Finally, you will be introduced to the format that CTE is using for standards development and revision. Next steps in the project will also be discussed as we develop a committee to continue working on this project.
